

New Synodal Continental Stage Logo

The new logo for the Continental Stage of the Synod in Prague is based on the official logo of the Synod, which shows God's people in their diversity walking through the world with the Holy Spirit hovering over them, but walking on the Charles Bridge, the symbol of Prague. On the right in the logo is the Old Town Bridge Tower and the left has the silhouette of the Cathedral of St. Vitus, Wenceslas and Adalbert, the most sacred place in Prague and the Czech Republic, where one of the services during the Synod meeting in February will be held.

The connection of the two logos thus reinforces the idea of synodality by showing that the people of God do not walk together in some imaginary setting, but in the concrete conditions of this world. Walking on a bridge that connects shores and divided worlds, synodality thus contributes to overcoming obstacles, building bridges and establishing relationships between people with each other and between man and God. The wandering people of God are directed to the tower-gate through which they enter the city.

More information on the logo and the Continental Assembly can be found here <https://www.synod.va/.../continental-assemblies/europe.html>